Read the story given below and answer the questions that follow.

An old man, who lived in the city, had to put up with the nuisance of having boys play cricket in the streets outside his house under the streetlights, at night. One evening, when the boys were particularly noisy, he could not sleep. So he went out to talk to them. He explained that he was very happy whenever he could see or hear boys playing his favourite game, cricket. He said he would give them 25 rupees each week to play on the street at night. The boys were thrilled.

They were being paid to do something they enjoyed! At the end of the first week, they knocked at the old man's house and asked to be paid. He did so. The second week, when they asked for payment, he said he had run out of money and sent them away with only 15 rupees. The boys were very disappointed, but there was not much they could do about it. The fourth week, the man said he could not afford to pay them 25 rupees as he had promised, but would give them 5 rupees each week without fail. This payment was too little for the boys.

"You expect us to play seven days a week for a measly 5 rupees!" they yelled. The boys then stormed away and never played on the street again.

31. During which part of the day did the boys play cricket?

- A: In the morning
- B: In the afternoon
- C: In the evening
- D: In the night

32. Where did the boys play?

- A: inside the old man's house
- B: in the playground near the old man's house
- C: in the streets outside the old man's house
- D: in the streets outside the school

33. How much money did he promise to give the boys in the beginning when he made the deal?

- A: 25 rupees every week
- B: 15 rupees every week
- C: 10 rupees every week
- D: 5 rupees every week

34. What did the old man really want from the boys?

- A: He wanted them to play cricket on all the days of the week.
- B: He wanted them to practice more and thus improve their game.
- C: He wanted them to stop playing cricket near his house at night.
- D: He wanted them to start earning while doing something they liked.

35. How did the boys probably feel at the end of the story?

- A: happy to have earned money
- B: angry that they were being paid less
- C: sad that they were forced to stop playing
- D: satisfied that they had tricked the old man

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow.

People are amazing, take Dhruv for instance. The 25-year-old actor, who made his debut as a lead actor in the Kannada film, Snehanjali recently, is both deaf and dumb. Dhruv was born in Bangalore to businessman-actor Suresh Sharma. He studied up to grade 12 but dropped out of college when he found it difficult to follow his lecturers. He joined computer courses but wasn't interested in continuing a computer-related career.

One day, when he accompanied his father to a dubbing studio, he realized he could become an actor if he learnt to move his lips according to the words of the dialogue spoken by someone else, which is called lip-syncing. No one took his decision to act seriously. In fact, everyone tried to discourage him. They didn't think it was possible for him to become an actor and wished to spare him the hurt and disappointment of rejection.

Dhruv, however, knew he had the talent for acting. So, he spent the next few months practising before a mirror. When he felt he could lip-sync quite naturally, he approached producer Siddaramu. Looking at the handsome youngster, the producer decided to try him out. He was so impressed by Dhruv's ability to understand others speak and his sense of timing in delivering a dialogue that he cast him in Snehanjali.

"I don't want to be a great hero, I just want to tell the world that my disability cannot stop me from becoming one. There are lakhs of disabled youth. I want to tell them that victory comes when one is confident of achieving it instead of cursing oneself and everyone around for one's disability."

36. Dhruv approached producer Siddaramu who decided to "try him out."

Which expression can replace "try him out" in the sentence above?

A: make him the hero

B: tell him to get out

C: let him use actions

D: give him a chance

37. From this article, we can say that Dhruv _____.

A: fulfilled his childhood dream of becoming an actor

B: was confident and determined to beat his disability

C: became an actor because he felt it would be easy

D: was offered the movie only because of his disability

38. What is the likely impact on readers after reading the article?

A: Young people will be inspired to become film actors

B: The blind will be encouraged to follow their dreams

C: An awareness about film careers will be generated

D: People will give money to the families of the disabled

39. Which of these expressions describes Dhruv's story?

A: Trying is failing with honour

B: Only the successful have friends

C: Heroes are created on popular demand

D: Happiness is not readymade, you have to tailor it

40. Dhruv dropped out of college because _____.

A: he got admission into a reputed computer course

B: his father wanted him to join his family business

C: he was offered the part of the hero in Snehanjali

D: he could not understand what the lecturers were saying

41. People discouraged Dhruv from becoming an actor as they felt that _____.

A: disabled people do not look good as film stars

B: a lot of money would be required for his training

C: he would fail and as a result, feel bad about his disability

D: there were already many disabled people in the film industr

Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow.

With dry lips, parched throat, ink-stained fingers, and exhaustion on one side and exaltation on the other, Swaminathan strode out of the examination hall on the last day.

He would have felt more comfortable if all the boys had given their papers as he had done, twenty minutes before time. Standing in the verandah, he turned back and looked into the hall and felt slightly uneasy when he saw his friends, busy writing, thinking or revising their answers.

Swami suddenly wished that he had not come out so soon. But how could he have stayed in the hall longer? The language paper was set to go on till five o'clock. He had found himself writing the last question at four-thirty. Out of the six questions set, he had answered the first and third questions satisfactorily, the second was doubtful; the fourth, he knew, was clearly wrong.

He took only a minute to answer the sixth question.

The question was: 'What moral do you infer from the story of the Old man and the Tiger?' (An old man was passing along the edge of a pond. The tiger hailed him from the other bank and offered him a gold bangle. The old man first declined the offer, but when the tiger protested its innocence and sincerity and insisted upon his taking the bangle, he waded through the water. Before he could hold out his hand for the bangle, he was inside the tiger.) Swami had never thought that this story contained a moral. But now he felt that it must have one since the question paper mentioned it.

He took a minute to decide whether the moral was: 'We must never accept a gold bangle when it is offered by a tiger' or 'Love of gold bangles can cost one's life'. He saw more logic in the latter and wrote it down. He tried to check his paper after that but before he had read a few lines of the first question, he was bored. He then set his pen to work and went on improving the little dash under the last line indicating the end, till it became an elaborate complicated pattern. Ten minutes had passed. He saw two or three boys giving in their papers and going out, and felt happy. He briskly folded his paper and submitted his paper too.

46. When did Swami come out of the hall?

A: at 4.30 pm

B: at 4.40 pm

C: at 5.00 pm

D: cannot say from the passage

47. The second paragraph suggests that Swami _____.

A: was annoyed with himself for handing in his papers late

B: looked angrily at his friends for not coming out of the hall with him

C: felt uncomfortable on seeing his friends still answering the paper

D: felt relaxed and happy that he had left the examination hall early

48. Which of these is probably a better moral for the story of the Old Man and the Tiger?

A: Temptation resisted is the true measure of character.

B: The wages of greed can result in irreparable loss.

C: A fool and his money are soon parted.

D: Life is not worth the value of gold.

49. Swami chose the second moral for the given story because it _____.

A: was easier to understand

B: had a fewer number of words

C: was more rational to his mind

D: did not have the word tiger

"... on improving the little dash under the last line indicating the end, till it became an elaborate complicated pattern."

50. This suggests that Swami was _____.

A: artistic by nature

B: happy at that time

C: bored at that time

D: a brilliant student

Excerpt from an interview with Bachendri Pal, the first Indian woman to climb Mount Everest, before she set out on a new expedition called Himalayan Traverse. The four thousand kilometre trek will last seven months and pass through Bhutan, Nepal, Leh and the Siachen Glacier before concluding in the Karakoram Ranges.

Interviewer's Question: You've been a keen crusader for women in your own way. Right after you conquered Mount Everest, you successfully led an all-woman team to Everest. Next, in 1994, you led an all-woman rafting expedition across 2,500 kilometres in the mighty Ganges, from Haridwar to Calcutta. And now this expedition. Why do you emphasise women undertaking such adventures?

Bachendri's Response: You know, when I first expressed the desire to become a professional mountaineer, the objection that my family, relatives, and the people around me raised was that mountaineering is not something women should ever think of. According to them, the only profession women should take up if at all they insist on working is that of a school teacher. With due respect to teachers, I confess that since I had no inclination to take up teaching, I had to cross many hurdles, many humiliations, much more difficult to cross than the boulders of Mount Everest. For me to get out of my rural society itself was a long struggle. Somewhere along the line, all this set me thinking about women in India. What type of training and upbringing can we give our children if we ourselves are uneducated, unexposed to the world and happenings, steeped in superstition? It is often said and I too strongly believe that strong mothers will lead to a strong nation.

Many people suffer from a misconception that mountaineering is just climbing and descending mountains with a rucksack. Well, it is much, much more. Any person who has had some experience in this will tell you how such adventures toughen a person, both mentally and physically. Both trekking and mountaineering are ideal and ultimate tests of human endurance. They teach you how to deal with critical situations, they teach discipline and nurture leadership qualities, develop humility, courage, self-respect, and self-confidence, besides bringing one in contact with people from different areas and different cultures. How do you expect to instill leadership qualities, courage, and an ability to deal with crises by giving lectures to people sitting within four walls? It is only when they meet with challenges and critical situations that they exercise their brains and their bodies to the maximum.
